

Conference on Radiation in Health Care (CRHC 2021)

26 - 27 April 2021

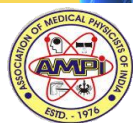

On the occasion of

International Medical Physics Week

26 - 30 April 2021

Organized by

Department of Radiological Physics
SMS Medical College and Hospitals, Jaipur

WELCOME

Dear Colleagues,

Greetings from Jaipur, Pink City of India.

On the occasion of the International Medical Physics Week (IMPW), the Department of Radiological Physics, SMS Medical College and Hospitals Jaipur is organizing a two day scientific event 'Conference on Radiation in Health Care (CRHC 2021) during 26- 27 April 2021 at 'Sushruth Sabhagar' SMS Hospital Jaipur.

IOMP launched the International Medical Physics Week (IMPW) similar to the International Day of Medical Physics (IDMP) with the purpose to motivate organization of activities in a defined week that result in the promotion of the subject of medical physics globally, increasing the visibility of the profession and outreach to fellow professionals and general public. The theme of this years celebrations is 'Communicating the Role of Medical Physicists to the Public'.

Various scientific, social and awareness activities are being organized by the department of Radiological Physics, to commemorate the role of Physics in Medicine. The CRHC 2021 is planned to be held in hybrid mode with an option for delegates to attend virtually too. The instructions from Government of India and the State of Rajasthan regarding Covid-19 will be strictly adhered and presently the maximum number of participants attending the conference physically is limited to 200 on first cum first serve basis. The Organizing Committee, wholeheartedly welcome you all to this scientific bonanza at the 'Pink City' of India.

Organizing Secretary

Contribution of Medical Physics in healthcare is multi-dimensional and it has improved the healthcare tremendously. The recent advancements in Medical Physics may it be in Radiodiagnosis, Radiotherapy, Nuclear Medicine and various fields specially using radiation has made monumental sprints. To bring over it and recognize the contribution of Medical Physics to healthcare, International Organization for Medical Physics (IOMP) has started to celebrate 7th November, the birthday of Madam Marie Curie as International Day of Medical Physics (IDMP) since 2013. However, it was thought that a week devoted to the contributions of medical physicists to healthcare to be celebrated as International Medical Physics Week (IMPW). For the first time, it was celebrated from 11th -15th May 2020, where various academic and teaching institutes showcased the contributions of medical physicists to healthcare globally.

This year, Department of Radiological Physics, SMS Medical College and Hospitals, Jaipur, India is celebrating this mega event in Jaipur. The scientific programme will include talks and teaching sessions by eminent speakers in the field of medical physics. An awareness rally to reach out to the fellow healthcare professionals and general public about the role of medical physicists in healthcare is also scheduled. Seminars/ teaching sessions will be organized in the various post graduate science colleges, engineering colleges, medical universities, nursing colleges, etc. depicting the medical physicist's role in various medical and radiation fields like different diagnostic departments, radiotherapy, radiation safety, research etc.

To encourage and promote the young and early career medical physicists and scientists, a young investigator session is arranged, for which abstracts are invited in areas of research related to medical physics practice. Abstracts shall be prepared in IMRaD format not more than 300 words in Times New Roman font size 12. Selected abstracts will be considered for best paper awards.

Jaipur, popularly known as the 'Pink City' and 'Paris of India', is the capital of the State of Rajasthan, India. Jaipur is renowned as one vertex of Golden Triangle of Indian tourism. Its also the city of colorful fairs and festivals. Peaceful, pink, clean and warm; Jaipur is one of the most beautiful cities in the country.

A hearty welcome to each one of you to celebrate this academic feast in the 'Pink City' of India. Hope you will have a pleasant experience and take back fond memories....
